

Autobiographicacy: los angeles county in stories...

1848 The Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo is signed and the Mexican American War ends. California, along with all of what was northern Mexico, about half of the country, is ceded to the United States (February 2)

California was never a territory of the Union and was not admitted to statehood until September 9, 1850--county government was organized and functioning in Los Angeles County before officially recognized by the US government

The Land Act of 1852 "acquired" the original land grants from the rancheros

The first palm tree in Los Angeles is brought from the desert and planted during the 1850s. It still remains at Figueroa Boulevard entrance to Exposition Park.

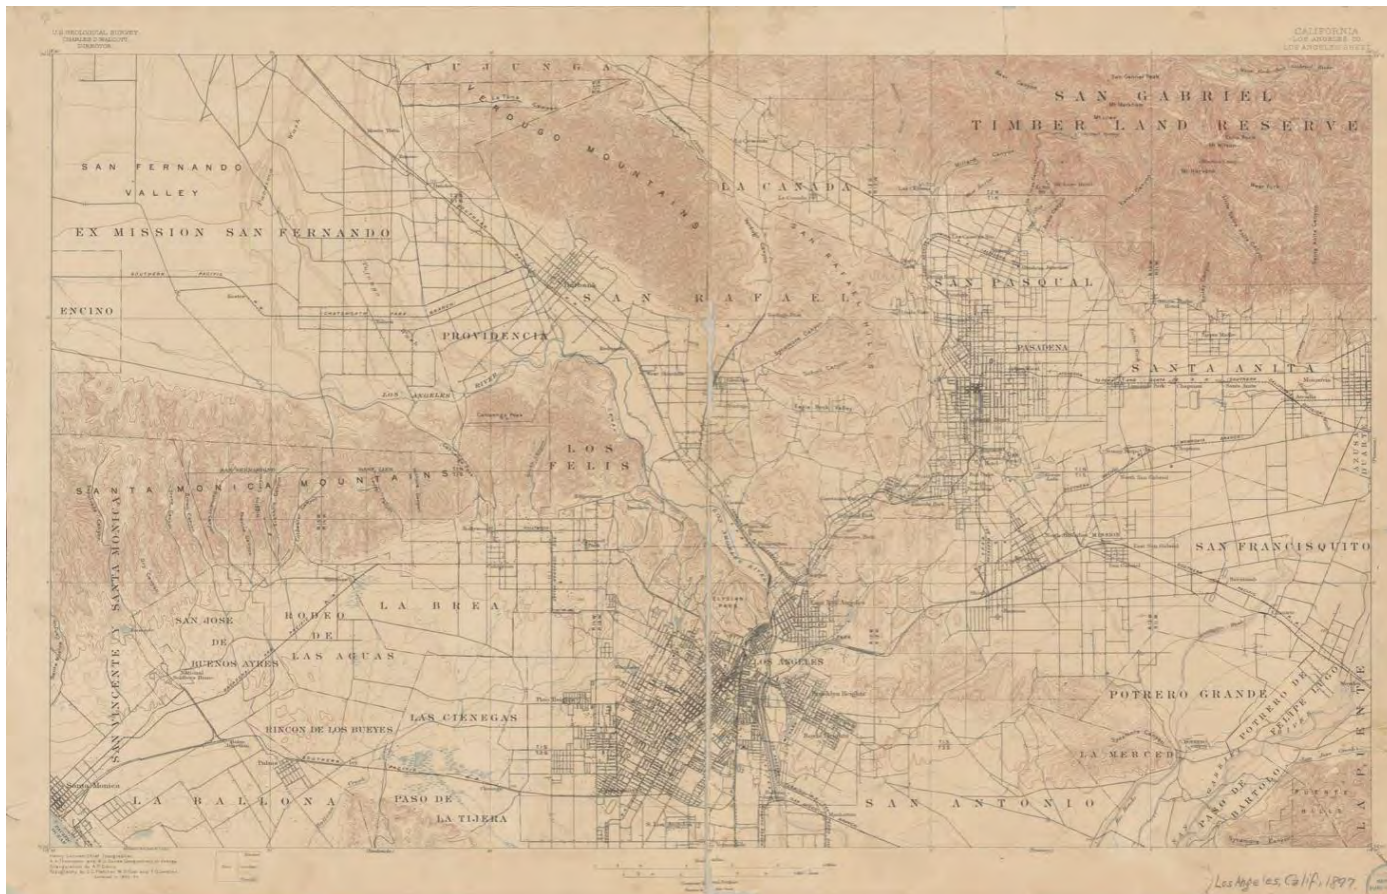

1853 San Bernardino County is established from part of Los Angeles County.

1857 Los Angeles feels the Great Fort Tejon Earthquake, which, at 7.9 on the Richter Scale, is the largest earthquake ever recorded in U.S. history.
